My name is Erin Lyons. The Sisters of the Holy Cross are inviting me to serve Christ and His Church. This is my story.

In the Beginning

I was raised Catholic (the youngest of three children), and lived in Oceanside, California near a beautiful monastery perched atop a hill overlooking the town and the harbor. I enjoyed attending Mass at the chapel, as well as shyly interacting with the cheerful monks who lived on the grounds.

My Faith

My faith was primarily formed by my mother's witness. She was a quiet example of what a woman and mother should be. We were very close, and her strong devotion to God, as expressed in prayer, meditation, and spiritual readings, made a lasting impression on me. I wanted nothing more than to follow in her footsteps.

Unfortunately, while in high school I gradually drifted away from the faith. I stopped going to church and spent most of my time in school and working. It was a confusing period in my life because I still believed in God and wanted to be a saint, but the "rules" of the Church seemed too difficult to follow. I felt that, since I was young, I had plenty of time to be "free," and would take my faith more seriously in the future.

I went to college to become a registered nurse, eventually qualifying to work in the E.R. I really enjoyed working with patients and my coworkers, but I couldn't shake the feeling God was calling me to something greater, something more profound.

My Vocation

While attending silent retreats centered on Eucharistic adoration I felt the emptiness inside me slowly fade and, although thoughts of religious life began to enter my mind, the desire for marriage, family, and a secular career remained strong. I wavered between the two vocations, but the decision seemed daunting - I remember wanting to put the choice entirely in God's hands.

“It was during a pilgrimage to Lourdes and Fatima that my calling to religious life grew more insistent.”

—Erin Lyons

It was during a pilgrimage to Lourdes and Fatima that my calling to religious life grew more insistent. From that moment on, I was seriously considering a religious vocation. Ending my career was painful, but it was the right thing to do, and I haven't regretted it.

Called to Serve

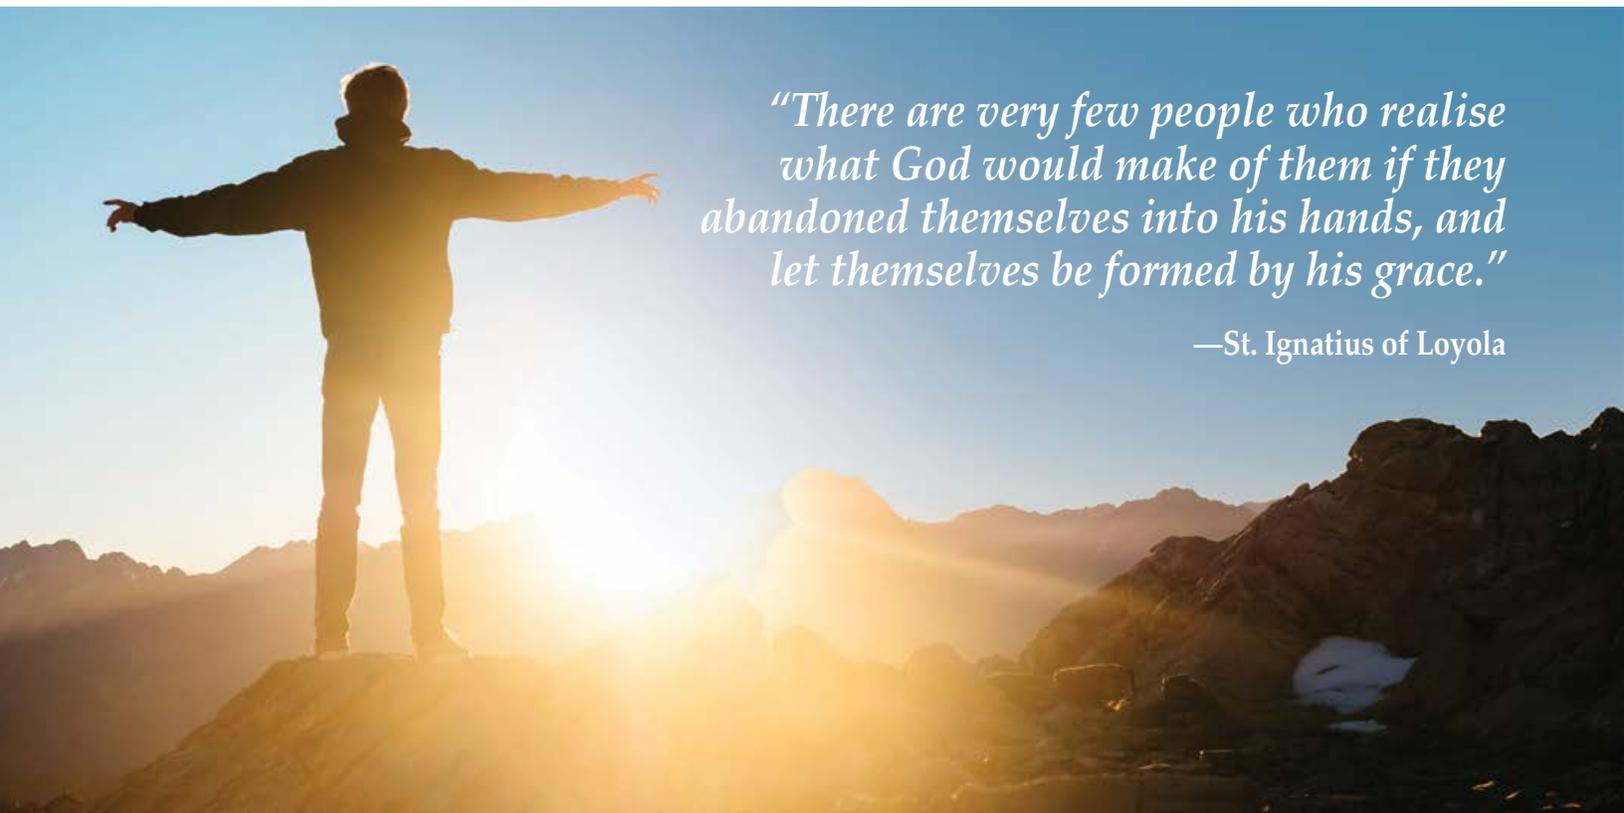

Through the silent retreats and the guidance of my spiritual director, I reached out to the Sisters of the Holy Cross. Following meetings with their vocation director, and visits to their community, I fell in love with the order. I'm particularly attracted to their charism, which includes supporting the priest's ministry through devotion to Our Lord's suffering in His Passion. The sisters also actively take part in domestic, administrative, and retreat work focused on family ministry.

Thanks to divine providence, and the fervent prayers of my family, I feel I have finally found God's calling. My one desire is to continually grow with the sisters, serving priests, families, and communities in whatever capacity God desires.

Prayer & Invitation

Please pray that my fellow Labouré classmates and I can resolve the student loan debt blocking our path to religious life. As you know, the Church desperately needs new priests, sisters, and brothers. With your help, our class will soon reach its goal of serving Christ and humanity.

Please feel free to reach out with any questions you might have at: erin@rescuevocations.org.

“There are very few people who realise what God would make of them if they abandoned themselves into his hands, and let themselves be formed by his grace.”

—St. Ignatius of Loyola

I am an aspirant of Labouré

I am also a fundraiser for a class of aspiring priests, sisters and brothers. A recent study confirmed that nearly 1 of every 2 aspirants is blocked from entering seminaries and religious communities due to student loan debt. It is the only thing that prevents many from entering formation to become a priest, sister or brother. My classmates are discerning all over the country.

With your help, we will rebuild the Church!

My goal is to raise $60,000 (the average student loan amount) before December 31st of this year for The Labouré Society, a Catholic non-profit that helps aspirants like me to answer God's call.

Every aspirant has been accepted by a diocese or community and is required to work to liquidate their assets in order to make their own maximum loan payments. Through Labouré, my fellow aspirants and I work together as a class, raising donations which will be divided amongst the class and ultimately applied to our remaining student loans.

We are blessed to have this opportunity to share our love for God, our vocation stories, and to invite hundreds of individuals to support vocations like ours by financially investing in our future and the future of the Church.

Will you join our vocational journeys?

Please partner with us and be part of our vocation team so we can answer God's call together!
